FOURTH TSO OPEN DAY

TSO (NGE Group) opens its Chelles site to the public as it pursues plans to recruit 800 employees by 2030

Against a backdrop of sustained growth, TSO, NGE's rail subsidiary, is inviting the public to its Open Day to discover its professions and expertise, while supporting a recruitment programme that will see 800 people hired by 2030. TSO will also host the NGE Job Tour, a recently launched initiative that aims to recruit 3,000 site operatives across France.

On Sunday 31 May 2026, from 10 am to 6 pm, TSO, the NGE Group's rail subsidiary, will hold the fourth edition of its Open Day at its Chelles site in Seine-et-Marne.

Having welcomed 1,600 visitors in 2024, the event will once again give members of the public a behind-the-scenes look at the rail industry, its professions and its specialist expertise. It also forms part of TSO's growth strategy, under which the company plans to recruit 800 people by 2030, increasing its workforce by 25%.

The day will showcase a wide range of career opportunities at TSO, including work placements, apprenticeships, fixed-term roles and permanent positions. Opportunities are open to candidates from a broad range of backgrounds, with or without formal qualifications, both on worksites and in office-based functions.

An immersive introduction to TSO's rail activities

For one day, TSO will offer visitors a practical insight into its activities through an immersive, hands-on programme:

- Technical demonstrations, including welding
- Opportunities to explore rail machinery, including locomotive and access-platform rides
- Workshop tours
- Interactive activities organised with local partners

A family-friendly event open to everyone.

The NGE Job Tour stops at TSO

TSO will also host the NGE Job Tour, a travelling recruitment initiative, during the Open Day.

NGE teams are travelling across France with one clear objective: to recruit 3,000 site operatives by meeting potential candidates directly. The Job Tour reflects a new, locally focused approach that brings recruitment closer to communities and talent. It will run until the summer and return in autumn 2026.

This fourth edition promises a varied programme and plenty of surprises.
